grandson of Richard Tomlinson, Sr. and Eleanor Nance Walpole of Surry Co., VA.

Archibald m. 2 25 Feb 1809 (bond), Clark Co., KY, Elizabeth Bridges; surety Stephen Rogers; Agatha Bridges swore that Elizabeth was 21. (George F. Doyle, Marriage Bonds of Clark Co., KY, 1793-1850)

There may be a clue to Archibald's first wife in his 1 Dec 1827-Mar 1828 will in Bath Co., KY: "Mr. Joseph Frakes has given my three sons Nathan Epps, Harraman and Joseph F. $100 each: so they should receive $100 less from my estate than my other children."

(The will also mentioned his wife, Elizabeth; granddaughter, Juliann Anderson, under 21, daughter of William Anderson; daughters Martha Ann, Agatha; sons James, Leroy, John.)

Archibald and James Tomlinson made land entries in Clark Co., KY in 1790; they were taxed in Montgomery Co., KY in 1800, as was Joseph Frakes. Joseph and Nathan Frakes (note names of sons above) were on the 1810 census in Montgomery: 371, Joseph 20010-20201-00; 382, Nathan 00010-00100-00.

1820: Montgomery Co, KY, Nathan Frakes, 257.

1820, Laughery Twp., Dearborn Co., IN, 75: Joseph Frakes. John Sr., John and Philip Frakes were taxed in Nelson Co., KY in 1792, and Robert Frakes in Bracken Co., KY in 1799.

Caity Fraiks m. 4 Feb 1793, Lincoln Co., KY, John Marksberry, so they apparently were there, too.

The name Harraman (Herryman, Harriman) certainly is suggestive of a surname, but I have not found one in conjunction with Archibald.

Appreciate data on Archibald's descendants.

Children of Archibald Tomlinson and Elizabeth Bridges are:

4 i. Leroy Cole Tomlinson, born Abt. 1810 in Montgomery County, Kentucky; died Abt. 1855 in Louisville, Kentucky; married (1) Jane ?; married (2) Eliza Powers Abt. 1842.

ii. Martha Ann Tomlinson, born Bef. 1817 in Kentucky; died Aft. 1843; married John Riggs January 30, 1838 in Bath County, Kentucky; born Bef. 1817.

iii. Agatha Tomlinson, born Bef. 1817; died Aft. 1827.

iv. John W. Tomlinson, born Abt. 1817 in Kentucky; died Aft. 1870 in Montgomery County, Kentucky; married Mary J. Ensor Bef. 1849 in Bath County, Kentucky; born Abt. 1822 in Kentucky; died Aft. 1870 in Montgomery County, Kentucky.

v. Benjamin F. Tomlinson, born April 19, 1819 in Bath County, Kentucky; died October 19, 1901 in Brooklyn, New York; married Mary Jane Lansdowne December 29, 1839 in Bath County, Kentucky; born December 15, 1826 in Owingsville, Bath County, Kentucky; died July 09, 1898 in Mexico, Missouri.

vi. Peter M. Tomlinson, born Abt. December 14, 1820 in Bath County, Kentucky; died August 27, 1879 in Atchison, Kansas; married Celia Ann ? Bef. 1843 in Kentucky; born March 1824 in Kentucky; died 1910.

Generation No. 5

16. Thomas Tomlinson (Source: Mrs. James F. Tomlinson, Family Report of Mrs. James F. He married 17. Sarah Eppes 1756 in Sussex County, Virginia.

17. Sarah Eppes, born June 17, 1741 in Surry County, Virginia (Source: Gertrude R. B. Richards, Register of Albemarle Parish, Surry and Sussex Counties, 1739-1778, (The National Society Colonial Dames of America in the Commonwealth of Virginia; 1958).); died Aft. From the DYER FUNERAL HOME, ACHISON KANSAS. Unfortunately our records were not very good in those days and they only date back to the early 1900s. I could not find any info on the Bosankos who were buried at Mt. Calvary Cemetery. I did find a Mrs. James Bosanko who passed on 11-19-1919. I am wondering if this would have been Mary Livella Bosanko.

I hope this information helps you in some way. I know you were probably looking for more. Back then they wrote everything down in ledger books line by line and kept the books, not files. That is why I just typed the info. In order for me to scan the documents I would have to untie the ledger books and who knows if I would be able to get them back together. I can tell you that Mt. Calvary Cemetery is the Catholic cemetery in town and Arensberg Pruett Funeral Home is the Catholic Funeral Home. We bury Catholics here as well but they are known as the Catholic Funeral Home. You may be able to email them as well and see if they have any information.

Nellie Dooley 1865 - 28 Jan 1884

A Sad Death.

Mrs. Nellie Bosanko, wife of Richard G. Bosanko, died yesterday morning, January 28th, at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Bosanko's death was attended by the most sorrowful circumstances. She was not yet nineteen years of age; had been a wife but two years, and died in giving birth to her first child. She was a woman of uncommon beauty, of a bright, sunny and affectionate disposition, and tenderly beloved. Death came to her in a most terrible form, but she was supported in the last agony by the consolations of her religion, and will be buried with its solemn rites from St. Benedict's church this morning at nine o'clock. The friends will first assemble at the residence, 611 Santa Fe street.

B. F. TOMLINSON.

B. F. Tomlinson, deceased, was a pioneer merchant and meat packer of Atchison, and left behind him an imperishable record for honesty and fair dealing, which has never been surpassed in the mercantile history of the city. He was born December 25, 1838, in Covington, Ky., a son of Leroy Tomlinson, who was also a native of Kentucky. The mother of B. F. Tomlinson died when he was a small boy, and as a consequence little is known regarding her antecedents. The Tomlinsons are a very old American family. Leroy Tomlinson was a commission merchant and meat packer, who later removed from Covington to Louisville, Ky., and became prominently identified with the business interests of that city. He conducted a large packing establishment and handled as high as 100 beeves at one time in his abattoirs, wholesaling the product of his packing houses to meat merchants in the cities and towns bordering the Ohio river.

B. F. Tomlinson, with whose career this review is directly concerned, was reared and educated in the city of Louisville, Ky., and when he was but fifteen years of age his father died, his stepmother dying one year later. Being an only child, he was left with the responsibility of his father's extensive business. The excellent training which his father had given him, here came one son, Harry; Lydia, wife of Frank Russell, of St. Paul, Minn., and mother of one son, Clarence Russell; Alice, wife of W. L. Johnson, of Atchison; Anna A., wife of Charles Robertson, of Chicago; Robert, a resident of Columbia, Mo., and who has one daughter, Ecce Tomlinson; Franklin, deceased; Birdie died in infancy. The mother of these children is now three score and fifteen years of age, but does not appear to be over fifty years old. She is remarkably well preserved and has a keen mind, and is especially proud of her husband's record and fine family of children.

Mr. Tomlinson was a member of several fraternal societies, among them being the Modern Woodmen, the Knights of Honor, and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. He was politically allied with the Democratic party, but never sought political preferment. He was well and favorably known and highly respected in business circles in Atchison, his greatest and kindest trait being his generosity in giving assistance to the poor and deserving of the city. He was always ready to listen to the call of the suffering and improvident, and never turned away a supplicant in dire need empty handed. It might be said of him that he was too generous for his own financial welfare, but he sincerely believed in the wholeness of his nature in giving of his sustenance to those whom he deemed in need. The indulgence of this Christian trait of giving naturally endeared his memory to a host of friends, who will long remember him. Few men were more liberal or kinder than this upright gentleman.

into good stead, and he carried on the packing business successfully, paying, in the course of time, a considerable indebtedness which his father had incurred. After his marriage in Louisville in 1860, he continued to conduct his business in Louisville until 1870, at which time he disposed of his possessions and came to Atchison. Here he engaged in the butcher and packing business, and soon held a prominent place in the mercantile life of the city.

B. F. Tomlinson was married September 11, 1860, to Miss Elizabeth Alexander, who was born May 11, 1840, in Bedford, Ind. She was a daughter of Robert M. and Emily (Legrant) Alexander. Her father was a coach-maker by trade, and removed from Bedford, Ind., to Louisville, Ky., where he died in 1900, at the age of eighty-nine years. Much interesting history can be narrated concerning the mother of Mrs. Tomlinson, who was born in New Orleans, and was one of three children born to her parents, who were of French origin. The elder Legrant was a drygoods merchant in the southern city, and the story goes, that on one of his regular trips to Cincinnati, Ohio, to buy a stock of goods for his store, he left two of the children at home, and on arriving in Cincinnati he placed Emily in charge of a Scotch family by the name of McDonald, and with whom he had been in the habit of stopping while on business in Cincinnati. Emily at that time was twelve years of age, and was a prime favorite with the McDonald's who begged her parents to leave her at their home during the time which would elapse until Mr. and Mrs. Legrant made their next trip from New Orleans to Cincinnati. They did so, but sad to relate, the little girl never saw nor heard from her parents again, and what became of them she never learned, and she was consequently reared to womanhood by the kind foster parents. In an earlier year than this at New Orleans, and at a time when Emily's father was very sick with rheumatism, a band of over one hundred Indians was encamped near the Legrant home at New Orleans. One of the other children was also afflicted with cancer of the face. The medicine men of the Indian tribe effected a cure of both the cancer and the father's rheumatism. The Indians were very affectionate toward Emily and called her the "pretty squaw," which was only natural, as she grew up to become a very beautiful woman, eventually becoming the wife of Robert M. The Lord is my shepherd;

I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:

He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for Thou art with me;

Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
Thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

How sweet it is

You scream, I scream, we all scream for Bo's scheme. And why for 50 years, in Seminole Heights? Because it's the good stuff.

By GRAHAM BRINK Published October 29, 2004 St. Petersburg Times

OLD SEMINOLE HEIGHTS - It's 10:30 on a Friday morning when the first customer eases up to the service window at Bo's Ice Cream.

"What can I get you?" Kenny Bosanko asks for what seems like the millionth time.

"Butter pecan in a waffle cone."

After all, it's still breakfast time.

Bosanko spoons out two baseball-sized scoops, delicately places them in a cone and wishes her a good morning.

The customer takes one lick and leaves smiling.

For 50 years, Bo's Ice Cream has been making people smile.

"We've seen a lot happen in this neighborhood over all those years," said Bosanko, 59.

In 1954, Bosanko's father, Kenneth, thought he could make a buck running an ice cream stand. The early days were tough. The elder Bosanko sold greeting cards to make ends meet. Eventually the stand became the place to go for a chocolate-dipped ice cream cone and other sweet delights.

Bo's has thrived at the corner of N Florida Avenue and Flora Street through Seminole Heights' ups and downs. It opened at a time when residents kept their doors unlocked and their windows open. Florida was a main north-south thoroughfare. Interstate 275 didn't exist.

The neighborhood soured as the suburbs boomed. Drug dealers popped up on corners.

Bosanko remembers when a dealer stashed a matchbox full of crack cocaine in his parking lot when the cops made a sweep. Bosanko decided it was a good time to hose down the lot, conveniently destroying the matchbox and its contents.

"I think that guy wanted to kill me," he said.

Another time about 25 years ago, Bosanko noticed three men drive up in a large sedan. They were wearing heavy coats in the middle of the summer. Bosanko knew something was up and grabbed a gun he kept near the register. He also alerted his father and brother working in the back.

As the men stepped out of the sedan, Bosanko saw that one was carrying a shotgun down his leg. The would-be robbers looked up, and the three Bosankos were standing in a line pointing handguns at them.

"You can get back in your car and live," said one of the Bosankos. "Or you can keep getting out and die."

They got back in the sedan.

"We never saw them again," Bosanko said.

In recent years, Old Seminole Heights has had a renaissance. Some of the suburban dwellers have moved toward the city. Others have come for the bungalow-style homes or to avoid sky-high prices in South Tampa.

Bosanko, who lives with his wife near the store, sees far less crime. His lines are as long as ever, often stretching 30 deep on a weekend evening. He added a drive-through a few years ago, which draws even more customers.

"There's something about eating ice cream in cars. People love it," he said.

On a recent Saturday night, a handful of employees pull off a chaotic ballet, taking orders and running the goodies out to the cars. They must work fast to keep the cars from backing up onto Florida, but not too fast as to topple a sundae or drop a cone.

On busy nights, they know not to ask too many open-ended questions. "What do you want with that?" evokes hmms. They go for specifics.

"Do you want pineapples with that?"

"Nuts or no nuts?"

"Chocolate sauce?"

Some come from as far away as Clearwater for Bo's homemade ice cream. Others who grew up on Bo's return years after moving to other cities.

Otis Baker, 46, buys shakes and cones at Bo's four or five times a month. He's been coming ever since he could drive.

"The ice cream is off the chain, man," said Baker, holding a giant banana milkshake. "You gotta try it."

So what's the secret? Use the highest-quality ingredients possible and sell the final product for a fair price, Bosanko said.

Bo's makes all of its own ice cream and uses only real fruit. No fake purees. No mystery ingredients. The top seller is the upside-down banana split, served in a cup for easy eating. Bosanko's favorite is the hot fudge brownie sundae, a calorie counter's nightmare.

Troy Wood, 26, has worked at Bo's on and off for about eight years. He spends summer nights at the stand and works construction the rest of the time. The Bosankos treat their employees like family, he said.

"This place has stood for five decades," Wood said. "It's fun working at a place with a lot of history."

Bosanko would like to see the area ride the revival wave. He wants some of the used-car lots along Florida to become shops or restaurants. He hopes the buzz about a coming Starbucks becomes reality; he was disappointed when plans fell through for a nearby Walgreens.

"Now that the area is on the rebound, it needs some help from the city," he said. "We need to keep it going in the right direction."

Bosanko doesn't worry about competition. He has forgotten most of the names of the ice cream shops that have taken a shot at dethroning Bo's. They last a while but inevitably go under, he said. Bo even outlasted the Dairy Queen on Hillsborough Avenue.

Bosanko took over Bo's in the early 1990s. His brother, Bob, died after running the stand for 25 years.

Bosanko still remembers the day when his dad opened Bo's. A 9-year-old boy, he thought he was in heaven. He ate so much ice cream the first day he made himself sick.

These days, he knows not to eat too much. But it's his knees and ankles, not his stomach, that beg him to give it up.

Unofficially, he says, Bo's is for sale. He hopes a group of former employees will raise enough money to keep the dream going.

For now, though, Bosanko keeps dishing out smiles.

Around 1994 to 1995, the company name changed a to "DK-BO, Inc." and Douglas D. Snow, Jr. became VP. Afterward, it became K-BO, Inc.

2006 Kenneth J. Bosanko, registered agent of Bo's Ice Cream, Inc.

Kenneth M. Bosanko passed away on July 4, 2000 at age 92; his son Kenny continued with the business. As of 2004, the shop was still family owned, although there was talk of them selling. The Bosanko's gem of an ice cream stand continues to satisfy young and old alike with sweet-tooth pleasing ice cream treats.

In the summer of 2005, at age 59, Kenny Bosanko said his seven-day workweeks were catching up with him. His knees and ankles bothered him, as did his chest pains. Buying a nice piece of land in Hernando or Citrus counties and building a house with his wife, Cecelia, was sounding good. Bosanko said four separate parties were trying to arrange financing to make an offer on the business and its land. His asking price was $1.64 million. One of those parties was a group of employees. If all the suitors offered the same money, Bosanko said he'd prefer to sell to the employees. Just the same, Bosanko said, all the interested parties are "people that want to keep it the way it is."

In 2006, Kenneth J. Bosanko was listed as the registered agent of Bo's Ice Cream corporation, and filed again in Nov. 2007 as registered agent. See filing.

BO'S Ice Cream

A cool hangout for many Hillsborough High School students through the years, and a popular favorite for all in the Seminole Heights area of Tampa.

Located on the northeast corner of Florida Avenue, just a few blocks north of Sligh Avenue at Flora Street, in the Seminole Heights area of Tampa.

For over 50 years the shop was family owned and operated. Mr. Bosanko's son Robert was 8 years old when he began working there. Bob took over from his dad and ran the shop for 25 years until around 1991. Bob passed away in 1992 and his brother Kenny, who was 9 when his dad started the business, took over Bo's in the early 1990s.

Located at 7101 N. Florida Avenue, Bo's was the creation of Kenneth Miller Bosanko. Born around 1907 in Guthrie, Oklahoma, "Mr. Bo" was a World War II and U.S. Coast Guard veteran.

He came to Tampa in 1954 from Cleveland and started the ice cream shop as the original owner and operator. The early days were tough; Bosanko sold greeting cards to make ends meet. Eventually, Bo's became the place to go for ice cream.

Revered ice cream shop has unsweet repeat of history

A robbery of Bo's Ice Cream is thwarted. Owner Kenny Bosanko, whose shotgun again comes into play, recalls a similar attempt years ago.

By SHANNON COLAVECCHIO-VAN SICKLER, Times Staff Writer
Published January 5, 2005

TAMPA - It's been more than two decades since the owners of Bo's Ice Cream confronted three would-be robbers with guns and a promise that they would kill them if they had to.

In recent years, as Seminole Heights went through a rebirth of home renovations and rising property values, the Bosanko family watched as crime fell.

Customers kept coming, some driving miles for their double scoops and sinful sundaes. The gun didn't seem like such a necessity.

But Monday night, Kenny Bosanko pulled out his shotgun, again intending to scare off three armed men.

The intruders had tied up his 34-year-old son and a Bo's manager, locked them in a tiny bathroom, then tried to break into the back office of the popular ice cream shop while Bosanko slept inside.

"My granddaughter was pounding on the door, telling me to come out," said Bosanko, 59. "But by the time I came out with my gun, the police were already here and the guys had run off."

Bosanko said the three young men, scared off by a third Bo's employee, didn't get any of his ice cream revenues.

"They peeled away part of the door frame trying to get into the office to get to the money," he said. "But nobody's ever been successful trying to rob this place."

Police say the three waited until Bo's was closing down for the night. At 11:15, they sneaked into a breezeway at the back of the business at 7101 N Florida Ave. A gate into the breezeway had been left open by accident, Bosanko said.

Inside the breezeway, they confronted Michael James Bosanko, the elder Bosanko's son. He had walked over from his nearby home to get a soda.

"All of a sudden, there was a gun at my head," the son said. "I thought they were kidding."

They weren't.

The three men tied Michael Bosanko up with flimsy plastic zip ties, then tied up manager Anthony R. Detrietas, 42, the same way. They locked Detrietas and Bosanko in the bathroom and pushed a washing machine up against the door, Bosanko said.

The intruders were trying to pry open the lock on the back office door when Bo's employee Dustin Williams, 19, walked up and startled them.

Police say one of the men pointed a gun at Williams, then fled with the other two in an older-model dark red Ford Mustang with a rear spoiler.

"I'm hoping it's just something that will never happen again," said the elder Bosanko, who was 9 years old when his father opened Bo's Ice Cream in 1954.

The victims described the would-be robbers as Hispanic men between 18 and 25 years old. They wore scarves over their faces and similar outfits - long-sleeved black and white sweaters, jeans, orange hats and blue scarves. Two carried guns; the third had a knife.

Bosanko, serving a steady stream of customers Tuesday as he spoke with reporters, said he'll add surveillance cameras to the outside of the business to thwart future robberies.

If that doesn't work, there's always the shotgun.

Neighborhood report

Tampa: How sweet it is

You scream, I scream, we all scream for Bo's scheme. And why for 50 years, in Seminole Heights? Because it's the good stuff.

By GRAHAM BRINK, Times Staff Writer
Published October 8, 2004

OLD SEMINOLE HEIGHTS - It's 10:30 on a Friday morning when the first customer eases up to the service window at Bo's Ice Cream.

"What can I get you?" Kenny Bosanko asks for what seems like the millionth time.

"Butter pecan in a waffle cone."

After all, it's still breakfast time.

Bosanko spoons out two baseball-sized scoops, delicately places them in a cone and wishes her a good morning. The customer takes one lick and leaves smiling.

For 50 years, Bo's Ice Cream has been making people smile.

"We've seen a lot happen in this neighborhood over all those years," said Bosanko, 59.

In 1954, Bosanko's father, Kenneth, thought he could make a buck running an ice cream stand. The early days were tough. The elder Bosanko sold greeting cards to make ends meet. Eventually the stand became the place to go for a chocolate-dipped ice cream cone and other sweet delights.

Bo's has thrived at the corner of Florida Avenue and Flora Street through Seminole Heights' ups and downs. It opened at a time when residents kept their doors unlocked and their windows open. Florida was a main north-south thoroughfare. Interstate 275 didn't exist.

The neighborhood soured as the suburbs boomed. Drug dealers popped up on corners.

Bosanko remembers when a dealer stashed a matchbox full of crack cocaine in his parking lot when the cops made a sweep. Bosanko decided it was a good time to hose down the lot, conveniently destroying the matchbox and its contents.

"I think that guy wanted to kill me," he said.

Another time about 25 years ago, Bosanko noticed three men drive up in a large sedan. They were wearing heavy coats in the middle of the summer. Bosanko knew something was up and grabbed a gun he kept near the register. He also alerted his father and brother working in the back.

As the men stepped out of the sedan, Bosanko saw that one was carrying a shotgun down his leg. The would-be robbers looked up, and the three Bosankos were standing in a line pointing handguns at them.

"You can get back in your car and live," said one of the Bosankos. "Or you can keep getting out and die."

They got back in the sedan.

"We never saw them again," Bosanko said.

In recent years, Old Seminole Heights has had a renaissance. Some of the suburban dwellers have moved toward the city. Others have come for the bungalow-style homes or to avoid sky-high prices in South Tampa.

Bosanko, who lives with his wife near the store, sees far less crime. His lines are as long as ever, often stretching 30 deep on a weekend evening. He added a drive-through a few years ago, which draws even more customers.

"There's something about eating ice cream in cars. People love it," he said.

On a recent Saturday night, a handful of employees pull off a chaotic ballet, taking orders and running the goodies out to the cars. They must work fast to keep the cars from backing up onto Florida, but not too fast as to topple a sundae or drop a cone.

On busy nights, they know not to ask too many open-ended questions. "What do you want with that?" evokes hmms. They go for specifics.

"Do you want pineapples with that?"

"Nuts or no nuts?"

"Chocolate sauce?"

Some come from as far away as Clearwater for Bo's homemade ice cream. Others who grew up on Bo's return years after moving to other cities.

Otis Baker, 46, buys shakes and cones at Bo's four or five times a month. He's been coming ever since he could drive.

"The ice cream is off the chain, man," said Baker, holding a giant banana milkshake. "You gotta try it."

So what's the secret? Use the highest-quality ingredients possible and sell the final product for a fair price, Bosanko said.

Bo's makes all of its own ice cream and uses only real fruit. No fake purees. No mystery ingredients. The top seller is the upside-down banana split, served in a cup for easy eating. Bosanko's favorite is the hot fudge brownie sundae, a calorie counter's nightmare.

Troy Wood, 26, has worked at Bo's on and off for about eight years. He spends summer nights at the stand and works construction the rest of the time. The Bosankos treat their employees like family, he said.

"This place has stood for five decades," Wood said. "It's fun working at a place with a lot of history."

Bosanko would like to see the area ride the revival wave. He wants some of the used-car lots along Florida to become shops or restaurants. He hopes the buzz about a coming Starbucks becomes reality; he was disappointed when plans fell through for a nearby Walgreens.

"Now that the area is on the rebound, it needs some help from the city," he said. "We need to keep it going in the right direction."

Bosanko doesn't worry about competition. He has forgotten most of the names of the ice cream shops that have taken a shot at dethroning Bo's. They last a while but inevitably go under, he said. Bo even outlasted the Dairy Queen on Hillsborough Avenue.

Bosanko took over Bo's in the early 1990s. His brother, Bob, died after running the stand for 25 years.

Bosanko still remembers the day when his dad opened Bo's. A 9-year-old boy, he thought he was in heaven. He ate so much ice cream the first day he made himself sick.

These days, he knows not to eat too much. But it's his knees and ankles, not his stomach, that beg him to give it up.

Unofficially, he says, Bo's is for sale. He hopes a group of former employees will raise enough money to keep the dream going.

For now, though, Bosanko keeps dishing out smiles.

Bo's Ice Cream Shop Scoops Up Success For 50 Years

By SEAN LENGELL slengell@tampatrib.com

Published: Dec 18, 2004 SEMINOLE HEIGHTS - Fifty years ago Sunday Ken J. Bosanko's father did something most children would kill for - he opened an ice cream shop.

"The first night we were open I ate one of everything," said Bosanko, who was 9 years old when his father opened Bo's ice cream shop at 7101 N. Florida Ave. "I got so sick, so I've sort of moderated my [ice cream] eating since then."

Bo's not only has been satisfying sweet tooth for generations, but the Seminole Heights institution has stayed in the family. Ken, now 59, is the third in his family to own and operate the shop.

"My father opened up the place because he liked ice cream, and my brother and I have done the same thing," Bosanko said. "We don't cut corners."

About half of his customers live nearby, he said. But many loyalists hail from the suburbs, getting hooked on Bo's while growing up in the city.

"This place is just old-fashioned - it's unique," said Scott Smith of Lutz, who became a Bo's aficionado as a boy in Tampa.

On a recent warm afternoon, Smith, 44, treated his son, Zack, 10, and daughter, Meagan, 16, to soft-serve ice cream cones.

"We just left Lowry Park Zoo, and I asked my kids what they wanted to do, and they said 'Bo's,'" he said.

Odessa resident Robin Alexander, who works in the West Shore Boulevard area, said she often makes a special trip to Bo's.

"There's no place like this," said Alexander, enjoying an upside-down banana split, one of Bo's biggest sellers. "When I want ice cream, this is where I come."

Many celebrities have patronized Bo's. Former Tampa Bay Buccaneers and current Indianapolis Colts Coach Tony Dungy is an occasional customer, Bosanko said. Musicians Greg Allman and his legendary brother, the late Duane, stopped by the stand when in town.

"Andre the Giant was here once," said Bosanko of the late professional wrestler and actor. "He ordered a milkshake - the biggest size we have - drank the whole thing, then got in line and ordered another."

Bo's opened on Dec. 19, 1954, after the elder Bosanko took an early retirement from the Greyhound bus company in Pennsylvania and moved his family to Tampa.

An ice cream stand had operated sporadically at the Bo's site. But its owner had other interests and quickly sold to the senior Bosanko.

His father ``always dreamed of owning his own ice cream shop," Bosanko said.

Ken M. Bosanko named his shop ``Bo's" - short for Bosanko. He manned the soft-serve machines for the next two decades before turning over control to another son, Bob, in the 1970s.

Although selling ice cream for a living has its rewards, life behind the counter isn't easy. The shop is open every day of the year, including holidays. Since taking over the business from his brother Bob about 15 years ago, Ken Bosanko has taken only one vacation, and that was for two days.

``It's close to a 24 [hour], seven [day-a-week] job," said Bosanko, who lives in a small house connected to the back of the shop. ``I've put in a lot of 100-plus hour weeks."

Bo's has been closed only three times in recent years; once when the building was treated for termites, and twice during the past hurricane season.

``We like to keep our customers happy," Bosanko said.

Business wanes in December, but usually picks up after the first of the year, ``unless we have a cold snap," Bosanko said.

During warm evenings, lines seven or eight people deep routinely pack in front of the shop.

During busy weeks, Bo's will go through about 14 40-pound boxes of bananas and 65 5-gallon containers of ice cream mix.

The addition of a drive-through window a few years ago has increased business significantly.

Despite his love for serving up frozen concoctions, Bosanko said he isn't sure how long he will stay in the business.

``I'd like to retire," he said. ``Maybe do a little traveling in an RV."

Bosanko said he would like to keep the business in the family, though his son isn't sure operating an ice cream shop is his calling. Selling to one of Bo's many longtime employees could be an option, he said.

However, if Bo's is put up for sale, Bosanko said he will try to find a buyer willing to keep the shop open.

``I'd like to see it go on," he said. ``It would be a shame to tear it down and build a Burger King."

LET US PRAY

My dearest Jesus, whose loving heart was ever touched by the sorrows of others, look with compassion on the souls of our dear ones in Purgatory. Oh You who "loved Your Own," hear our cry for mercy, and grant that those whom you called from our homes and hearts, may soon enjoy everlasting rest in the home of Thy love in heaven. Amen.

Let us Pray

O Gentlest Heart of Jesus, ever present in the Blessed Sacrament, consumed with burning love for the poor captive souls in Purgatory, have mercy on the soul of Thy departed servant. Be not severe in Thy judgment but let some drops of Thy Precious Blood fall upon the devouring flames, and do Thou, O Merciful Saviour, send Thy angels to conduct her to a place of refreshment, light and peace

Our Father Hail Mary

Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord! and let perpetual light shine upon her. Amen

Russell, Randel + Niel Bosanko

In Loving Memory of

RUSSELL S. BOSANKO

July 2, 1951 - October 28, 2005

Do not weep for me, I am free
I am a thousand winds that blow
I am the diamond's gift of snow
I am the sunlight on ripened grain
I am the autumn's gentle rain
When you awaken in the morning's hush
I am the swift uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in circled flight
I am the soft stars that shine at night
Do not weep for me, I am free
I did not die.

Neil Allen Bosanko

Birth: Jun. 19, 1953
 Chicago
 Cook County
 Illinois, USA
 Death: Oct. 23, 2011
 Chicago
 Cook County
 Illinois, USA

Neil Bosanko is a product of the South Chicago Community. His [great] grandchildren represent the 6th generation of his family in the area.

As early as his Bowen High School days in the 1970's, Neil exhibited the need to bring people together. He was involved in the Afro American History Club and worked with neighbors in his Calumet Heights Community to form block clubs and community clean ups. Many a viaducts and vacant lots were cleaned by him and his helpers.

Upon graduation, he went into the Peace Corp/VISTA Program working under the Governor's Office in a project called PROJECT FIND. It focused on the ethnic senior communities around the Chicago and Midwest Area trying to ensure that people that might have had a language barrier knew about the multitude of services and supports for seniors. He also helped found and operate the COPA Arts Center housed at Bessemer Park. This center primarily served Mexican and other Hispanics in the arts and after school tutoring.

He also took a position with the South Chicago Neighborhood House as a youth service coordinator and moved up to the directorship of that center during the 13 years he worked for them.

After taking a medical leave and finally leaving the agency, he became the Executive Director of the South Chicago Chamber of Commerce. He has been there for more than 22 years and continues to serve in that capacity.

In each of the positions he held, he has brought people together in an effort to better understand the diversity of the people and to celebrate the richness of their cultures.

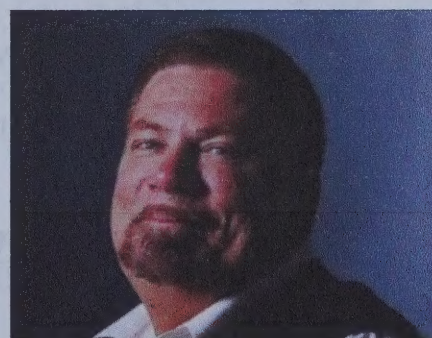

He took children from the community to other parts of the city to partner up with other ethnic resources such as the Native American Center in Uptown, the Chinese Community Center in Chinatown and others.

This same philosophy of bridging people together is still evident in his work at the Chamber.

He helped plan and organize informational networking sessions to understand the Middle Eastern and Islam Religion shortly after the 911 attacks. He has conducted Hispanic and African American networking sessions for the community at large to help facilitate a dialogue on the weaknesses and problems in those ethnic communities. His guidance and commitment has helped move the community toward working together to strengthen their role of leadership and positive growth.

He also went to each identified Middle Eastern owned business on the southeast side and asked them to call him if they experienced any threats from people at their place of business immediately after 911 due to the tension experienced throughout the country.

Neil attempts to facilitate interaction between the business, social service, religious and academic communities to identify strategies to problem solve and work in strong partnerships on issues.

The Chamber is truly representative of this philosophy and boasts of being one of the most diverse community chambers in the city. The board consists of all stakeholders in the area.

Neil has played a very strong role in the transformation of Bowen High School to the small schools that are now housed in the building. He has been involved as an LSC member since the inception of the structure in Chicago over 10 years ago.

After over 35 years of community involvement and leadership, Neil is still going strong and is heavily motivated by the need to see all of the dreams and wishes for a stronger community come into fruition.

He has been a foster parent for over 25 years (foster 162 youth over that span of time) specializing in teens that have exhibited behavior problems. He was the last step before institutionalization for many of these teens. They often came from tough family crisis and experienced horrible situations in their early years. His success with many of them resulted in his being recruited for a new program called Mentor Treatment Home. It was a highly specialized treatment home that used very concrete treatment plans in helping the teens resolve ongoing negative behaviors. He has been fortunate to be able to witness some of the fruits of his labor with teens that are now into their mid 30's and are doing well for themselves and their families. Due to his emphasis on education and breaking the vicious cycle of drop outs, incarceration and teen pregnancy that D.C.F.S. wards find themselves in by huge numbers, almost all of those teens ended up graduating high school and going to college or city colleges.

As you can see, every juncture of Neil's teen and adult life has been pretty consistent in trying to reach out to touch the lives of people in need and to bring people along with him on this journey.

Now it is time for him to pass that torch on to the community that he has worked so hard to strengthen...let us reassure him through our own dedication and action to keeping his life long legacy alive!

From his Living Memorial Service program, May 2011, held after he was given a diagnosis of terminal cancer in March.

A benefit was held for Neil by his friends & family on October 22, 2011.

Neil Bosanko, 58, passed away the next morning, Sunday, October 23, 2011 at his home.

The following obituary written by Sue Ontiveros was published in the Chicago Sun-Times on October 28th, 2011:

On his 58th birthday, as an honorary street sign along South Green Bay Avenue bearing his name was unveiled over the summer, Neil Bosanko bluntly reminded the crowd that it wasn't his style.

Instead, if people wanted to remember him when he was gone, he hoped they'd make sure the holiday meals at the South Chicago YMCA would be served, that the South Chicago Neighborhood House would continue as a haven for kids and seniors, and that the other initiatives he worked on would continue and flourish.

After all, he told the crowd on that warm June day, "I'm only one person."

Well yes, but not really. Mr. Bosanko had the energy and drive of an army when he was working for South Chicago, his community that he loved so dearly.

Diagnosed with pancreatic cancer on March 30, Mr. Bosanko died on Sunday, the day after the community held a benefit to help defray his rising medical costs.

There will be no service. Instead, when family and friends learned of his prognosis, a living memorial service was organized and held in May in the auditorium that bears his name at his alma mater, James H. Bowen High School. That earlier honor was bestowed in recognition of his longtime service on its local school council. A quality education at the neighborhood schools was one of his passions.

At that service, one after another got up and spoke of how much his leadership had meant to them. And, they remembered that he made a mean bowl of chili.

Always, he was looking for ways to help children, senior citizens, the poor, the marginalized. Sometimes in his determination to get things done, Mr. Bosanko could be demanding, and he was never afraid to speak his mind, especially if it meant he could improve South Chicago. This was a man who with all his heart believed people working together could make their neighborhood better.

For 13 years, Mr. Bosanko worked for the Neighborhood House, rising to the position of executive director. He often took the children — largely Latino and African American — to other communities so they could experience the diversity of other ethnicities. In a area that's no stranger to violence, Mr. Bosanko created programs so kids would have a fun, educational and safe harbor. As one young man, Sam Gomez, said to Mr. Bosanko at the living memorial, "Thank you for not giving up on us. Thank you so much for making my childhood better."

After leaving Neighborhood House, Mr. Bosanko became executive director of the South Chicago Chamber of Commerce, a position he held for more than 22 years until his death. Mr. Bosanko was remembered as the teen who startled the working-class community when residents woke up one morning to find their train station repainted. Long before anyone else had thought of it, he had decided to paint over graffiti. That bold act impressed many a neighborhood kid.

Mr. Bosanko flourished in the Chamber job. He worked tirelessly to bring together business, religious and social service agencies to tackle the community's problems.

He gained a reputation as someone who could get things done. Sometimes, it might be in an unorthodox fashion, but Mr. Bosanko could deliver. Once, another nearby chamber needed to get its Christmas decorations off light posts but couldn't afford the city's hefty fee. Mr. Bosanko, who had a cherry picker, brought it over, and in the dead of night, those decorations came down.

And then there were "his kids." More than 25 years ago, Mr. Bosanko became a foster parent. In that time he took in 162 children, often teens with behavioral problems and nowhere else to go.

As he was proud to say, almost all of them graduated high school and went on to higher education.

Besides those foster children, Mr. Bosanko is survived by sons Paul, Xavier and Steve, a brother, Randy, and niece Elizabeth.

Harvey man dies

in Carse avenue fire

A 21-year-old Harvey man died of burns and smoke inhalation Tuesday morning in a fire arson investigators say started inside a refrigerator located in the rear of the home at 16131 Carse avenue.

Harvey fire department officials said yesterday that Michael Bosanko, 21, was killed in the fire and his grandfather, Kendall, 76, was seriously injured. A third family member, Randy Bosanko, 28, escaped serious injury when he fled the house after searching for his brother and grandfather.

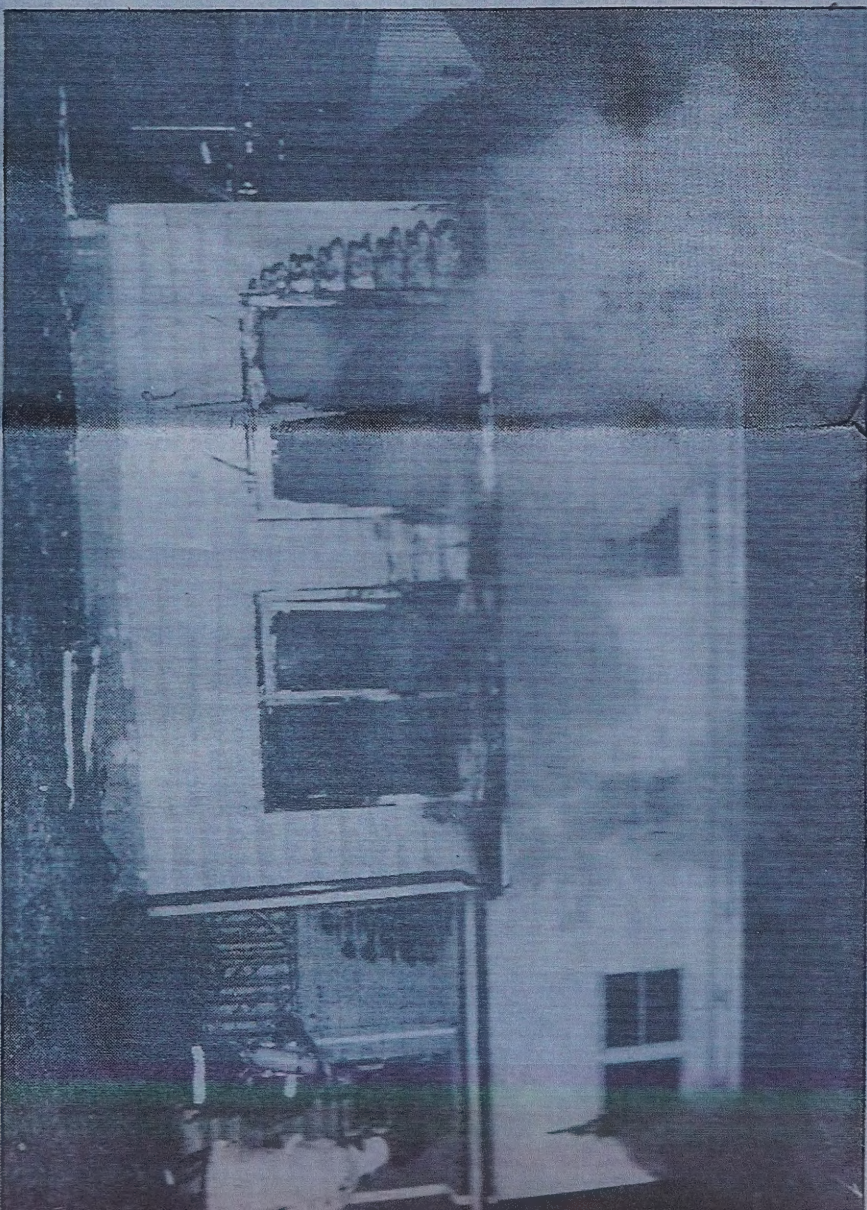

A South Holland police unit initially reported the fire at 2:59 a.m. Tuesday and South Holland fire department personnel were the first to arrive on the scene after noticing flames coming from the rear of the home, according to fire officials. Harvey fire department personnel arrived on the scene at 3:02 a.m. and were informed that three individuals were trapped inside the building.

RESCUE EFFORTS were then put into effect and Kendall Bosanko was found on the first floor, suffering from burns and smoke inhalation. Michael Bosanko was found on the second floor and was later pronounced dead on arrival at Ingalls Memorial hospital.

Arson investigators said that although the surviving brother told fire department officials that the home did contain smoke detectors, no evidence of smoke detection warning devices were found in the house.

Ingalls hospital spokesman said Kendall Bosanko was upgraded from critical to serious condition yesterday while Randy Bosanko was listed in good condition.

Harvey fire fighters battle a blaze at 16131 Carse avenue that claimed the life of 21-year-old Michael Bosanko Tuesday morning. Fire department arson investigators say the fire began in a refrigerator that shorted out and started a fire that spread to an adjoining wall. Bosanko's grandfather, Kenneth, 76, was seriously injured in the fire and a brother, Randy, 28, escaped with minor injuries. Fire department officials say they found no evidence of smoke detectors in the home. (Photo courtesy of Harvey police and fire photo unit)

INFORMATION ABOUT MICHAEL KEITH BOSANKO:

BIOGRAPHY: Engaged to Lori Blackwell at time of death.

BIRTH: Born at Jackson Park Hospital (7531 Stony Island Avenue) at 2:28am on Monday; weighed 6 pounds 4 ounces.

BURIAL: Section 28; Block E; Grave (with grandmother; Irene)

DEATH: I heard my father, Randall James Bosanko, tell this story just a few times:

Everyone was asleep in the house, he must have just been a light sleeper because he woke up to realize the house was on fire. He & his brother, Mike, were on the second floor, so he woke Mike and ran downstairs to wake Pops (his grandfather). He could not get to Pops' room, so he went outside and around to his bedroom window; he broke the window but Pops was not in his room. Firefighters arrived and he realized that Mike must have gone back to his room to get something (probably the wedding rings as he was engaged to be married at the time). The fire blocked Mike in his room and my dad saw him hanging out of his second floor window, he was yelling for Mike to just jump, but he did not. Mike passed out and fell back into his burning room. My dad said that if he had just fallen forward, out of the window, he could have survived. The firefighters found Pops in the hallway, he had apparently woke up and tried to get to the stairs to wake the boys, but passed out in the hallway. Pops survived the ordeal but ended up on life support at the hospital for a month before my dad had to make the decision to 'pull the plug'. Pops had cancer and had already had the conversation with my dad about not wanting to be kept alive my machines, but that did not really make the decision any easier. Mike was

Hi Fayth:

More entries on Dr. Bosanko:

This apparently happened at a banquet of the Medical Association honoring Dr. J.S. Carrington in 1884:

..."The Ladies" said the toastmaster, and Dr. Bosanko was upon his feet almost at the word, with a neat, if somewhat prejudiced, response to the dearest of all banquet sentiments."

Apparently, each doctor got up in turn, was given a speech topic by the toastmaster, and had to give an extemporaneous speech about it. This is from the Evening Chronicle, 10-6-1884. (page 1542 in the Griswold book).

>From the section titled 1885:

"As the proposed hospital, to be erected on East Seventh Street by Drs. Simons, Maclean, Law, and Bosanko, is attracting some attention, a reporter for Chronicle called on Dr. Law in order to get some points in reference to the institution...."Who will have charge of it?" "Drs. Simons, Maclean, Bosanko and myself. We will have hot and cold water, bathrooms, and in fact, every facility for making it a first class hospital." (Carbonate Chronicle, 2-7-85)

"The need for another hospital had been brought about by the impending closing of the Grand Army and Iron-Silver Cord hospitals. The Grand Army, with which Doctors Law, Bosanko, and Simons had been associated, was running out of money, only a small number of Union veterans were using it, it had never been modernized, and its location at the far west end of Twelfth Street was considered too far from the doctors' offices."

Both previous entries are on page 1596 of the Griswold book.

More in a few minutes....

Judy

Hi Fayth:

There is some information about Dr. Bosanko in this book, History of Leadville and Lake County, Colorado by Don and Jean Griswold, c.1996.

The author of the book quotes extensively about Dr. Bosanko's testimony given at a trial of Samuel Derry for the fatal shooting of H.B. Bearce earlier in 1884. The author took this account from the Evening Chronicle of the time. This article was dated 12-6-84.

"The prosecution then called Dr. Arthur Bosanko, who testified:

I am a graduate of the college of Toronto, and the college of Victoria; I have been brought in contact with insane people in connection with my student life; I heard that question propounded; there is nothing that would indicate to me that the hypothetical person was insane or that would induce me to believe that the person whom committed the act could not distinguish between right and wrong.

Cross-examined: I practiced a year in Marysville, Kansas, before coming west; my experience commenced in 1876; I had no experience with the insane in my Kansas career; ...my experience with the insane has been very limited; my knowledge of the disease is theoretical; I saw nothing that would lead me to believe that Mr. Derry was insane; detected nothing that has been produced by the disease; I detected something of a false action or conception as exhibited in the evidence; I discovered evidence of uncontrolled passion at the time when he found the greatest provocation, that he could do it at another time he controlled it at the meeting at the placer; he controlled his passions when meeting his daughter and her escort; I conclude that his passions were controllable, for the reason that he had controlled them; the emotions might have been uncontrollable; I should have to find a man of weak and diseased mind before I would pronounce the emotions uncontrollable; the privations and exposures of frontier life might have produced such results; I see no evidence of the diseased mind; I do not know whether the taint of insanity is more often transmitted from the maternal than the paternal side of the house; moral insanity is a perversion of the moral senses.

I hope this gives you some information you didn't have before.

I'll type the other information to you

Hi Fayth:

Okay, in this entry, Mart Duggan was shot and Dr. Bosanko was one of the attending physicians. This is from page 2075 & 2077 of the Griswold book, covering the years 1888-1901:

On April 9....Duggan was at once conveyed to the nearest drug store, and Doctors Maclean and Bosanko hastily summoned. But the physicians, when they arrived, pronounced the wound fatal, and said that nothing could be done that would save his life. ...The autopsy upon the remains of Duggan was not held until about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when Doctors Maclean and Bosanko probed for the bullet.

Source was the Leadville Herald-Democrat 4-16-88.

Have you heard about the Leadville Ice Palace? If not, I'll tell you about its brief history. This book says that "the commerical displays in the Ice Palace were a great attraction. Over 100 exhibits deocrated the banquet-exhibition hall or were encased in the ice walls of the entrances, towes and promeandes. ...other exhibits...[were] of 23 patent medicines, including those of Leadville's Taylor Drug Company and Dr. Bosanko's remedies as well as such nationally known items as Carter's Little Liver Pills, Cuticura, and Syrup of Figs."

This is from page 2180 of the Griswold book, and it is pretty amazing, because if Dr. Bosanko is your ancestor, you have an ancestor who exhibited remedies at the Leadville Ice Palace in 1896.

Pneumonia Carries Off a Prominent Physician of Leadville

Special to The News

LEADVILLE, Colo., 11/23/1895--Dr. S. Arthur Bosanko died at his residence, 120 West Seventh Street, at 10:30 Saturday morning. The sickness was contracted last Monday a week ago. He was taken ill, but persisted in visiting his patients. The following Wednesday the doctor contracted a bad cold which soon manifested symptoms of pneumonia. He was prostrated and disconsolate, having a premonition of the outcome. So strongly had this conviction taken hold of him that he made his will and gave to his friend, Dr. E. T. Boyd, explicit directions as to the details of his burial. Dr. McDonald and Dr. Law were constant at his bedside and the best nurses of St. Vincent's Hospital were vigilant in their attention upon the sick physician. Dr. Flake of Denver had been telegraphed for and arrived on Friday of last week, when Dr. Bosanke gained some encouragement and expressed some hope of recovery. It was an extremely bad case of pneumonia, however, and the doctor finally succumbed. He was but 39 years of age and had established a large practice here. He leaves a wife and a son aged 5 years.

LEADVILLE, Colo., 11/23/1895--Dr. S. Arthur Bosanko died at his residence, 120 West Seventh Street, at 10:30 Saturday morning. The sickness was contracted last Monday a week ago. He was taken ill, but persisted in visiting his patients. The following Wednesday the doctor contracted a bad cold which soon manifested symptoms of pneumonia. He was prostrated and disconsolate, having a premonition of the outcome. So strongly had this conviction taken hold of him that he made his will and gave to his friend, Dr. E. T. Boyd, explicit directions as to the details of his burial. Dr. McDonald and Dr. Law were constant at his bedside and the best nurses of St. Vincent's Hospital were vigilant in their attention upon the sick physician. Dr. Flake of Denver had been telegraphed for and arrived on Friday of last week, when Dr. Boanke gained some encouragement and expressed some hope of recovery. It was an extremely bad case of pneumonia, however, and the doctor finally succumbed. He was but 39 years of age and had established a large practice here. He leaves a wife and a son aged 5 years.

10 BLANCHE WEBSTER WADLEIGH BOSANKO

On July 6, 1900, Blanche Webster Wadleigh was born in Cotopaxi, Colorado, a gold and silver mining town in the foothills of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky Mountains. Her father, Ephraim Thackery Wadleigh, was a station agent and telegrapher for the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad. In 1891, Ephraim had moved with his family to Cotopaxi. A year after Blanche was born, the family moved to Westcliffe, where Blanche spent the rest of her childhood years.

Due to her father's small salary and the many mouths to feed (Blanche was the youngest of seven children), Blanche's childhood was one of poverty and hardship. Any spare money earned by Ephraim was invested in the silver mines, which never paid off. "The family always lived in the quarters provided in the railroad stations for the agent's use. While this seemed a rather public way to live, it was not really, due to Mother's insistence on the girls never being allowed to be in the public waiting rooms or on the platform when the trains left and came in. While Father's salary was not large, it was steady, and his job was secure. I don't believe any of us really felt poor – very few people in Westcliffe were well-off anyway."

"There was no high school in all of Custer County, and any family who wanted further education for their children had to send them elsewhere. Mother took the drastic step of almost breaking up their home life by renting a house in Canon City for three winters so that the three older girls could go to high school. Somehow, Father managed to support two households and it did not break up the family" (The Ancestry and Descendants of Ephraim Thackery Wadleigh and Sarah Ann Webster Blanche Webster Wadleigh 1972). The 1910 U.S. Census shows Kathryn, Cornelia and Blanche living with their mother in Canon City. Blanche herself attended high school in Delta, Colorado and lived with her older sister Edith and husband Jim Langworthy.

In March 1921, Blanche met Paul Bosanko while she was a freshman at the Colorado State College of Education (formerly the Colorado Teacher's College) in Greeley, Colorado and he was also a student at the College. She was the only sibling in her family to attend college, although only for one year. They met while they were in the chorus of the college production of The Pirates of Penzance. She said she was dazzled by the sophisticated older man from the East. They were married five months later on August 24, 1921 in Westcliffe, Colorado.

Paul Bosanko's Journal (January 1929 entry) describes their whirlwind courtship:

"Soon after arrival [at the Colorado State College of Education], I met Blanche, who was a freshman.... Though I had no immediate prospects of being able to support a wife, that did not bother me much, as I had my education completed and felt sure that I could manage some how, once I had to. So, after knowing each other for about six months, we were married on $50 in cash and the promise of a part-time job in the Greeley High School.... And so we managed, had one room to live in, got three meals a day and finished our year at school. It was hard going at times and a dollar looked the size of a house but we had fun all same and we knew that it was only temporary."

Paul spent the next year earning an MA in French at the College. They moved to Minneapolis, Minnesota in 1922 where they lived for the rest of their lives. They had two children, Ann Louise (born in 1924) and Michael Arthur (born in 1929). In the summer of 1935, they bought a lot in Minneapolis and built their first house. In the winter of 1940, Blanche developed a bad nervous condition which required the care of a nurse for two months. Her daughter Anne was sent away to a private boarding school in Faribault to make things easier for Blanche. She recovered several months later.

Her husband Paul died in 1946 and she never re-married. In One Woman's War, Blanche writes in a letter to her daughter Anne Bosanko Green after Paul had died, "You must know, however, how much we meant to each other. I never knew a man who was such a good husband as he was. And a father too. He was so tremendously proud of you and Mike."

"In those days (1940s), my mother was a typical woman of her times, making do and scrimping when times were tough, caring for her family, and doing church work and women's club activities for outside interest. It never occurred to her that she could get a job in addition to being a housewife." (One Woman's War). However, after Paul's unexpected death, she sold cosmetics for a short time. In 1948, Blanche began working for the Sister Kenny Foundation as an executive secretary in the fund-raising and public relations office until her retirement at age 60. During World War II, she discovered that her talent for managing money and being a conscientious treasurer could be of value. So she worked as a precinct Captain for the Red Cross Fund Drives and for the Victory Aides.

In 1948, there was a serious housing shortage when Anne and her husband, Ken Green were expecting their first child. So Blanche sold the house on York Avenue in Minneapolis and moved to a duplex on Colfax Avenue with Anne and Ken. The Greens rented from Blanche for two years before moving to their own place in St. Paul. Blanche continued to live on the 2nd floor of the duplex until 1964, when she sold the duplex and moved to an apartment building in Edina.

She was active in the St. John's Episcopal Church Business and Professional Women's Guild, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Minneapolis Chapter of the Audubon Society and the Women's Club of Minneapolis. In 1932, she began fencing with her husband and was "a very reputable performer" (according to her husband). She was a longtime member of the Elective Study Club (women only), where each member selected a topic, did a research project, and then presented it to the members during the year. Another retirement project was completion of her family history and genealogy. She completed the project, published it in 1972 and presented copies to her family members. She enjoyed traveling with friends, having been to the British Isles, Mexico, Europe, and the West Indies and made yearly trips in the States, visiting friends and relatives in Boston, New Jersey, Colorado, Arizona, Hawaii and California.

She also watched her six grandchildren arrive and grow, and cooked many an elegant holiday feast for the growing tribe. Blanche enjoyed playing card games such as bridge and word games like crossword puzzles, Boggle and Scrabble. She especially loved to play cribbage and taught her grandchildren how to play. The love of cribbage had been passed down through the family from her father Ephraim and father-in-law Samuel Bosanko. When she lived at her Edina apartment, her son Michael Bosanko and his family went to dinner there every Sunday and the kids usually played pick-up sticks.

Her daughter Anne Bosanko Green remembers Blanche as a social person with many friends who appreciated her sense of humor. She enjoyed classical music and was a good singer, singing in her church choir for many years. Ken Green said it was because Blanche once asked him to play the Maple Leaf Rag that he started to learn some ragtime pieces. Ken was a boogie-woogie and ragtime pianist who was instrumental in promoting jazz in the Twin Cities. She loved to read and like trading murder mysteries with Anne and Sally Bosanko. Blanche's attitudes and views were conservative in nature. Although she could be somewhat strict and proper at times, she had a sweet disposition and was a loving and caring woman.

Blanche suffered a stroke in 1974, which greatly limited her quality of life. She had to give up driving, began to have severe long-term memory problems and her osteoporosis eventually caused her to severely hunch over. As a result, she eventually needed a more assisted living situation. After moves to the Rembrandt Residence, and later the Walker Methodist Care Center, she spent her final five years at the Episcopal Church Home in St. Paul, Minnesota, where she had been on the Home's Volunteer Board many years before. Although she was quite infirm near the end of her life, she still loved to attend family events out at Lake Minnetonka. In September 1988, at the age of 88, she went into the hospital with pneumonia and died a week later on November 4, 1988 due to pneumonia and respiratory failure. Her ashes were spread in the Lakewood Cemetery a year after her death in the same area where her husband's ashes were also scattered.

PAUL BOSANKO (4): Paul Bosanko was born in Leadville, Colorado on August 19, 1891 and was an only child. When Paul was only 4 years old, his father, Dr. Samuel Bosanko, tragically died of pneumonia due to overwork during a diphtheria epidemic. As a result, Paul's mother, Harriet Worthington (Newton) Bosanko, took Paul back to the ancestral home in Hartford, Connecticut where Paul spent the remainder of his childhood years. In 1900, Harriet and Paul were living with Harriet's mother, Elizabeth Scott Newton, Paul's cousin Alice Berryman Bosanko and a servant. They lived with Elizabeth until she died in 1905. Paul's childhood was relatively comfortable and happy and he had a close relationship with his mother growing up.

He attended Hartford Public High School. He attended from Black Hall School in Connecticut, a private preparatory school for boys, from 1906-1909 and graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, New Hampshire in 1910. From 1910 to 1914, he attended Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut and graduated with a B.A. degree in 1914. PAUL BOSANKO, "Bo," "Bosey," was born in Leadville, Colo., August 19, 1891, and has lived in California, Colorado, and Connecticut. His father, Samuel Arthur Bosanko, was born November 23, 1855, in Aurora, Ontario, Canada. He died in Leadville, Colo., in November, 1894. Most of his life was spent in Canada. Dr. Bosanko received the degree of Bachelor of Medicine in 1881 and a Master of Surgery in 1884 from the University of Toronto, and the degree of Doctor of Medicine in 1881 from the University College of Victoria. Mrs. Bosanko was Harriet Worthington Newton before marriage; she lived in St. Albans, Vt. Bosanko was the only child. Francis Parsons, 1815, John C. Parsons, 1853, and Francis Parsons, 1893, preceded him at Yale. Paul prepared for Yale at Black Hall School and Exeter. He was a member of the Fencing Club. Cercle Francais. Exeter Club. Freshman year he roomed alone at 544 Pierson; Sophomore year with C. B. Clark at 173 Lawrance; Junior year with H. M. Diamond and H. A. Barton at 434 Fayerweather; Senior year with Diamond, Barton and Harry Steiner at 75 Connecticut. Bosanko expects to become a lawyer and intends to enter the Yale Law School for preparation. His permanent address is care of Security Company, Hartford, Conn.

While attending Yale Law School, he worked for Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. (1914). He received his L.L.B. (Bachelor's of Law) from Yale Law School in June, 1916 and was subsequently admitted to the Connecticut bar. He then worked for a Hartford law firm, Hyde, Joslyn, Gilman and Hungerford, for a short time. He was listed as an Attorney at Law in 1919 in the Connecticut Secretary of State Register and Manual. When the United States entered World War I in April 1917, Paul immediately applied for a U.S. army officer training program. At the time, Paul was a Sergeant Major in the Connecticut Home Guard, Signal Corps, where he had served for two and one half years. After the U.S. Army rejected him due to poor eyesight, he enlisted as a private in the Army Service Corps, British Expeditionary Force, in October 1917 and soon advanced to Corporal. Prior to his entry in to the British armed Forces, he attended a summer training camp in Plattsburg, New York.

In December 1917, while stationed for training outside Halifax, Nova Scotia, he witnessed first hand the accidental explosion of the Mont-Blanc in the Halifax harbor. The explosion created a tsunami that engulfed the town, killing at least 2,000 people and creating mass destruction. At the time, it was considered one of the worst disasters in history. The following is an excerpt from a letter that Paul to his mother – the letter was published in the Hartford Courant newspaper (December 26, 1917): "Pardon me if my letter is broken and incoherent, but that is the way Richmond seems to me now: death, wounds, fire and confusion. Some day I may be able to give you a clearer picture, but now I can only see broken bits, the flaming pile of rubbish, the dying child, a women's body lying by a shattered stove." In another letter home (May 28, 1918 Hartford Courant), he describes one particular heart-breaking moment: "By the way, the Canadian button came off my great coat, and it has a particularly gruesome association. In Richmond, in Halifax, on the day of the explosion, I was carrying a little girl from the wreck of her home down to the dressing station on the water front. She was alive when I picked her up, but when I got her to the station she was dead, and in dying, had taken firm hold of this particular button.”

On his voyage to England aboard the Orita in early 1918, Paul also witnessed another tragedy, the sinking of the troop ship Tuscania by a German U-boat (submarine) in the North Channel Sea. The Tuscania was the first ship carrying American troops to be sunk, with 230 deaths, and public opinion in the United States regarded its loss as an outrage. Paul’s detailed account of the tragedy is included in this genealogy. After training in Shropshire, England, he was sent to France in April 1918 and served behind the lines (Boulogne and Calais) in an administrative capacity with the 3rd Advanced Supply Depot. He was transferred to the Lancashire Fusiliers, 49th Division, in July and was wounded on the Flanders Front in August 1918 (according to the Yale Obituary Record).

Letters home from Paul during 1918 cast some doubt on that fact. However, Paul’s son, Michael A., always thought that he had been wounded since he remembered that his father had referred once to having some shrapnel left in one of his legs. Paul received a British Military Medal, awarded for bravery in battle on land to noncommissioned personnel, from a British General in August. It is inscribed “For bravery in the field.” Paul also acquired a German Iron Cross medal. Unfortunately, the circumstances of how he got either of those medals are unknown. Both medals are in the possession of his grandson, Paul Green. Paul had achieved the rank of Sergeant in the British Army, as indicated by the three stripes on the sleeve of his uniform (as shown in a 1919 picture).

In September 1918, he was attached to the Prisoner of War Company at Harfleur, France. At the end of the war, after the Armistice was signed in November, Paul was stationed in Paris with the Bureau of Purchase and Supplies, Royal Army Service Corps. He was a British telephone operator due to his ability to speak French. During his stay in Paris, he fell in love with a French woman named Claudine. He had hoped to bring her back to the States and marry her, but, for some unknown reason, that never happened. He was discharged in May 1919, departing from Bordeaux, France aboard The Chicago and arriving at Ellis Island in New York in June, 1919.

From 1919-20, he was an Assistant Manager for a stock brokerage firm, the Equitable Trust Company of New York, living in Manhattan with his mother (per the January, 1920 U.S. Census). He then briefly worked as a department manager for a college bookstore in New Haven, Connecticut. None of these jobs were satisfying so he decided to pursue becoming an Episcopalian priest.

IAFF Line-of-Duty Deaths - 1998

The Fire Fighter's Prayer

When I am called to duty, God

Wherever flames may rage

Give me strength to save a life

Whatever be its age.

Let me embrace a little child

Before it is too late

Or save an older person from

The horror of that fate

Enable me to be alert

And hear the weakest shout,

and quickly and efficiently

To but the fire out

I want to fill my calling

To give the best in me,

To guard my friend and neighbor

And protect their property.

And if according to my fate

I am to lose my life,

Bless with your protecting hand

My children and my wife.

He moved out to Colorado and enrolled in the College of St. Paul the Evangelist (Episcopalian Seminary) in Greeley in February 1920. Paul was accepted as a postulant for holy orders on April 6, 1920, removed his name from the list of postulantes for the Episcopal Protestant Church Diocese of New York on August 13, 1920 and dropped out of the Seminary on December 31, 1920 (Journal of the Primary Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Colorado Episcopal Church, Diocese of Colorado Episcopal Church Diocese of Colorado 1920).

He then enrolled in the master's program at Colorado State Teachers College (aka Colorado State College of Education) in the Fall of 1920 and worked as a teaching assistant in Modern Languages (French). Paul met Blanche Webster Wadleigh while they were both attending the Teachers College, probably around March 1921. On August 24, 1921, he married Blanche in Westcliffe, Colorado. Ironically, both Paul and Blanche had been born in small Colorado towns not more than 40 miles from each other. He received his Master of Arts degree in Education at the Teachers College in 1922 and his thesis was entitled "Une etude raisonnee de la trilogie catholique de Joris – Karl Huysmans."

In the fall of 1922, Blanche and Paul moved to Minneapolis where Paul enrolled in a PhD Program at the University of Minnesota. During that time, he was also an Instructor in Romance Languages at the University. Before he could take the oral examination and complete his doctoral studies, he accepted an offer in 1925 to become an Instructor in French and Spanish at Blake School for Boys in Hopkins, Minnesota. He continued working at Blake from 1925 until his death in 1946. He served as Head of the Department of Modern Languages from 1926 to 1930. At Blake, he was an enthusiastic backer of the swim teams and was the faculty advisor/Director for the swimming teams for many years. "His passing was a painful blow to a great many, both inside and outside the school, for his genial personality had gained him a great multitude of friends. As a teacher of French and Spanish, Mr. Bosanko was rarely equaled, less often surpassed. His sharp wit in and out of class won him the respect of every boy at Blake and provided his students with many a laugh at an otherwise serious moment" (The Blake Torch).

A plaque was placed at Blake in his honor and it still exists today in the Chapel. It reads as follows:

AT BLAKE SCHOOL
FOR TWENTY ONE YEARS
ERCTED BY HIS WIFE

The following are testimonials from former students at Blake in a book called Treasures in Our Lives: a Celebration of Our Teachers, published by The Blake School, 2001:

"Paul Bosanko affected me particularly with his searching curiosity and personal kindness. He had a great regard for the grammar of the French language and once remarked that if he were St. Peter, anyone who used it correctly would get into heaven. Bosco was proud of his war service, which included St. Michel and the Argonne. He also, of course, was involved with the swimming team and gave me a lot of encouragement in my events. A remarkable man in every way."

"Paul Bosanko was a first rate French teacher who'd been fortunate enough to study at Yale with Nelson rooks, one of the great language specialists. Personally, he looked in fact like an energetic, alert, determined frog. Mr. Bosanko's teaching was expert and focused, his love of his subject clear. And his patience with uninterested students pretty limited. But he took me through enough French language and literature so I could pass off all my Harvard requirements before Freshman year, and speak intelligently In France during the war. I'll always be grateful to him for filling me with a love for his subject."

"Mr. Bosanko, my French teacher, graduated from Yale and immediately entered the French army for three years before entering the American army. He had visited most of the monasteries and chateaux of France and passed that knowledge onto us. He spoke French, Latin, Greek and Hebrew. He loved to throw chalk and erasers at nodding students. He gave me a bronze Alliance Francaise medal upon graduation, but it was much too big and heavy to wear. I always regretted that he did not live long enough to share in my later adventures in France."

"I really didn't want to take French and didn't plan to like Paul Bosanko. One day he had read me a passage in French to the class. I really murdered the French. He said to the class, "We have just had a reading from Mortimer Snerd" (Edgar Bergen's hayseed puppet character). That broke the class up and my classmates would call me "Mort" for the rest of my days at Blake. I suppose that could have been humiliating, but the friendly way Mr. Bosanko said it made it fun and even flattering because I was pretty unworldly and unsophisticated."

During the late 1920s, he traveled to New York City to read essays for the College Entrance Exam Board, which provided some extra income for the family. After the exam readings were completed, he would often visit his mother in Hartford. Paul also did some private tutoring to earn extra money. They also received some rental income from some family property in Hartford that had been owned by Harriet Worthington Bosanko before she died.

In a 1939 high school or college reunion brochure, Paul wrote, "I'm starting my fifteenth year at the same job of trying to get the rudiments of French into the heads of an assorted lot of boys and still enjoying it. Same wife; same children. A daughter fifteen is keeping me up to date and a son of ten is keeping me limber. Minnesota is too good to leave in the summer and so Europe will see me not at all and the East but rarely. Schools being what they are, I can only get to New Haven in the summer when reunions are memories. ... All in all, life is busy and pleasant, and, after seventeen years in Minneapolis, I am a confirmed Middle-Westerner."

In the summer of 1935, they bought a lot in Minneapolis and build their first house. While living at the York Avenue home in Minneapolis, Paul and Blanche cultivated a large vegetable garden in the next-door vacant lot from 1942 to 1945. They canned most of the food and it helped them cope with food rationing during the difficult times caused by WW II. In August 1945, they bought a dairy farm with 320 acres and several buildings in Marine, Minnesota (north of Stillwater) for $32,000. No cattle were purchased and they decided to keep a tenant there to manage the farm. Paul had planned to retire from Blake in June 1946, sell the house and move to the farm to manage it full-time. He had been experiencing serious stomach problems which he felt were caused by the stress of teaching after 25 years. Paul wrote to Anne Bosanko Green, "And what a place it is and will be when we build our place and move on – the Lord sparing us that long."

In another letter to his daughter Anne, he writes, "Shortly you will be the daughter of a fulltime Minnesota farmer." In his letters to his daughter during this time, he talked about amount of the time he was spending on farm finances, visiting the farm and planning for the future. It was clear from his letters that he was extremely excited to start his and Blanche's new life on the farm. Tragically, Paul submitted his retirement papers but died in 1946 before he could retire to devote full-time to the newly purchased farm. After Paul's death, Blanche continued to rent out the farm and visit it occasionally for several years. However, she finally sold it in 1951.

During the time Anne was serving as a WAC (1944 – 1946), Paul was able to impart to Anne wisdom learned from his own Army experiences during WW I. "Take a brace on the fact that the place does not suit you and remember that you are a soldier in a war and not a girl on vacation If you are comfortable and safe, that's about the maximum you have the right to expect. Most soldiers are neither, so snap out of the grouch, be a soldier and make the best of it." (One Woman's War).

Paul was a man of many interests and talents, including gardening, collecting and reading books, tennis, swimming, calligraphy, banjo, guitar, and fencing. He took a particular interest in genealogy and completed a Bosanko Family genealogy in 1935. He was on the radical fringe in his thinking about ethnic and racial minorities, woman's rights, and other social issues. He described himself as a liberal. He was an intellectual who wrote letters to several newspapers and magazines, including the New York Times (1915) and the American Mercury Magazine (1926)

He was a member of Company G, 4th Regiment, Minnesota State Guard from 1943 to 1945, where he rose to Corporal. He received a medal for his services, which his grandson Mike Bosanko has in his possession. He was also a member of the Cum Laude Society, the Minnesota Education Association, the American Association of Teachers of Spanish, the Minnesota Modern Language Club, the American Legion, the Free Masonic Order, the St. John's Episcopal Church, and the Lambda Alpha Psi (the honorary Linguistic Fraternity of the Universities). He also served on a committee for the promotion of French Club activities as a member of the American Association of Teachers of French (The French Review edited by James Frederick Mason, Hélène Joséphine Harvitt 1926). Paul and Blanche were Episcopalians but joined the St. Francis Catholic Church for a time in 1929.

Paul joined the local Masonic lodge in 1936. He held several officer positions in the Lake Harriet Lodge and the University Lodge #316 of the Free Masons, including Master (1942), Junior Warden (1945), and Senior Warden. As a Master Mason, he also earned membership in the York and Scottish Rites. Paul was one of the founding members of the Educational Lodge 1002 on May 18, 1945. In 1945, he wrote a scholarly paper for the local Masonic that preached racial equality, tolerance and integration within the Masonic organization and U.S. society. At the time, these views were considered somewhat radical for the Masons and generally in the United States.

His son, Michael A. Bosanko, remembers one particular incident that exemplified Paul's commitment to his teaching profession and his no-nonsense attitude about learning. "When I was 13 or 14 and a student in my Father's French class, one evening I found that I had to tell my father that I would be unprepared for my French translation the next day. In a stern voice that he was well capable of, he replied that, 'I will excuse you this one time, but you should never again ask me for this kind of a favor.' This incident left an indelible impression in my memory."

Sadly, Paul died from a cancerous brain tumor (cerebral metastasis) on May 12, 1946 and was unable to fulfill his dreams of retiring to the farm he loved so much. The closed casket Masonic funeral was held at St. John's Episcopal Church. His ashes were scattered near a lake in the Lakewood Cemetery in Minneapolis.

He had experienced several health problems, starting with stomach ulcers in 1936, and also stomach cancer and throat problems. His health was never the same after the stomach ulcers were diagnosed. From Paul Bosanko's journal (March 1943 entry):

"In the meantime, my own health kept getting worse and in January of last year (1942), I caved in. Spent a fortnight in hospital and was forced to get a leave of absence of the rest of the school year. By Easter, I was in better shape and Blanche and I spent a delightful month in New Orleans and on the Gulf at Biloxi. Back home, started down hill again and in August, the doctors took me again to the hospital, did a stomach resection and removed my ulcers and a carcinoma which has started (thank Heaven, they got it in time) and let me back to work again this fall. Since then, I have been in fine shape."

Last entry in Paul's personal journal (May 1945), almost one year before his death:

"Blanche and I have been making plans for the time when Michael will have left school and stopped being one of the family circle, as he will do when he goes to college: only three years away. I am tempted to summarize them here in order to see how near we come to working them out. At present, my assets consist of about $50,000 in investments which produce at about 5%, this house which I estimate at $10,000, and equities in the Hartford property at $15,000. Our scheme now is to find a good farm, about 80-100 acres not too far from town, buy it on mortgage which a rental income would carry, and when Michael has left Blake, retire from teaching, and sell this place, build a new house on the farm and move down. Once there, should still have a sufficient basic income for the two of us and some to help the children, rent or work most of the place on shares, raise a good bit of our own food on the place and enjoy freedom and leisure to do some of the things I have never had time for. Also, we want to be near enough Minneapolis to keep in touch with our friends and with the good things of city life. The climate here in the north is a bit tough but we are used to it and, free from a job, it is possible to get away for part of the winter. Personally, I have always liked country life and in this uncertain world, a good farm strikes me as a nice sound investment which always gives a man a place to live and something to eat. ... Should be glad to get into a way of life which was less tense and which made fewer demands on the nervous system than does teaching. In another three years, shall be 57 (if I last that long, as I hope to) and that will have afforded me enough time for hard work."

Anne Bosanko Green wrote in her book that Blanche had the following recollections on the day Paul died, "...on the Saturday night before Mother's Day, a bad spring storm started with heavy snow and high winds. At some point, she [Blanche] was aware of my father getting up and going downstairs, presumably to check on the progress of the storm. She heard a thumping noise that she thought was a storm door slamming, but in the morning she found my father collapsed and dead on the kitchen floor. In a tight controlled voice, she thought she should tell me that when Dad had the stomach surgery four years before, the diagnosis was cancer, but they decided not to tell my brother and me.”

Green, Anne Bosanko

age 83, of S. Paul. Lived full life with husband and best friend, jazz musician and attorney, Ken Green in Roseville, St. Paul at Whitefish Lake and in Green Valley, AZ. Died Aug. 13, 2008 of vascular problems. Anne was born 9-20-1924 and grew up in the Linden Hills neighborhood of Mpls. She attended high school at St. Mary's Hall in Faribault, graduating in 1942. She attended the U of M from '42 to '44 and was a member of the sorority, Delta Gamma. Anne served in the Women's Army Corp. during WWII from 1944-'46. Her letters home from the war were published by the Minnesota Historical Society in her book "One Woman's War" and she was proud to give many speaking engagements about her experiences. After her discharge from the WACS Anne married Ken Green, who had just gotten out of the Navy and they both attended the U of M on the GI Bill. They raised their children and during the 1960's, Anne returned to the University of Minnesota to get her Master's degree in Psychology. She then worked as a school psychologist for the Robbinsdale School District for many years. During her 52 years of marriage with Ken, they enjoyed many jazz music events and friends with much traveling, downhill skiing, backpacking, and enjoyment of nature up at the lake. Anne was active for many years in the American Association of University Women, League of Women Voters (served on State Board in 1959), Girl Scouts, book clubs, her "Stagnantes" Group and loved knitting and crocheting for family and the Children's Home Society. In retirement Anne shared her love of nature, volunteering at the Rose Warner Nature Center, and also volunteered at Webster Magnet School. She loved history, music, reading, bridge, her crosswords and visiting with many dear lifelong friends. Anne's philanthropy will live on through her lifelong support of the Nature Conservancy, the Minnesota Historical Society, many liberal causes and the Unitarian Church in St. Paul and Green Valley, AZ. Anne was preceded in death by parents, Blanche and Paul Bosanko, and husband, Ken "Grandpa Ely." She is survived by brother, Michael (Sally) Bosanko of Bloomington and family; son, Paul Green of Tempe, AZ and Paul's children Dariya Ogden and Max Green; daughter, Kate Green and Kate's sons Raphael, Elliot and Jordan Looney of St. Paul; daughter, Martha "Muffie" Green Davidge and son-in-law Geoff Davidge of Crosslake, MN and their children, Beth Davidge of Minnetonka and Jack (Caren) Davidge and great-granddaughters, Teagan and Morgan of Maple Grove. Also survived by very dear nieces and nephews and friends. Anne requested that her ashes be interred with Ken's in a graveside service with military honors at 12:30 PM, Monday, August 18 at Assembly Area #4 at Fort Snelling National Cemetery, followed by a Service at 3 PM at Unity Unitarian Church, corner of Portland and Grotto, St. Paul. Subject: More Bosanko Information

Hi Fayth.

This is Mike Bosanko from Albany, New York. I have been on Kay's Bosanko mailing list for almost 2 years and been keeping faithfully informed all the various genealogical finds through the E-mail and rootsweb lists. I love your Bosanko web page and check it often for updates.

I have been meaning to contact you for sometime with some information to add to your extensive Bosanko tree but I never seemed to get the time until now. My great-grandfather was Samuel Arthur Bosanko (the 9th child of James Bosanko and Alice Berryman Bosanko). Samuel and Harriet Worthington Newton Bosanko had one son, Paul Bosanko (b. Aug. 19, 1891 in Leadville, Colorado, d. May 12, 1946 in Minneapolis, Minnesota). Paul Bosanko married Blanche Webster Wadleigh on Aug. 24, 1921. They had two children, Anne Louise Bosanko, born ?, and Michael Arthur Bosanko (my father), who was born Nov. 4, 1929 in Minneapolis Minnesota.

My father, Michael Arthur, married Sarabelle Parry Head, on Oct. 21, 1954 and had three children; Michael Douglas Bosanko (myself) (b. Aug. 18, 1955), Paul David Bosanko (b. Aug. 31, 1957) and Margaret Mary Bosanko (b. July 25, 1963). Myself, my brother and my sister were all born in Minneapolis, Minnesota and are all living (as are my Mom and Dad).

I married Margaret Mary Grignon on Aug. 2, 1986 and have two children. They are Nicholas Ryan Bosanko (b. Sept. 7, 1987) and Brendan Michael Bosanko (b. July 11, 1991). I work for the State of New York as an Associate Budget Examiner for the Division of Budget. I could probably go on and on but I won't bore you with anymore details for the time being. In future correspondence I can provide more details as you need them.

The purpose of my belated e-mail was to fill in some more of your fantastic Bosanko web site and also to establish contact with you to help me fill in more of our family genealogy. My grandfather Paul and my grandmother Blanche have put together a genealogy but it needs more workdone and sounds like you have resources and materials that may be helpful. One thing that is a puzzle to me is that my grandfather Paul's genealogy material show James Bosanko's (wife Alice Berryman) parents as John Bosanko (b. 1766 and d. 1856) and Mary ?, not Thomas and Mary Chergin as your web site tree indicates. I have to assume your sources are correct and my grandfathers wrong. I come to this conclusion becasue our family has no supporting documentation (birth certificates, etc.) that I know of. I would love to get copies of any documentation you have on this in the future. Maybe we can exchange mailing addresses and exchange documents and phone numbers.

I better go now. I look forward to hearing from you.
